As per the preview at the bottom of the timeline is designed in a black rectangle and not in the original video clip. So you need to render the preview clip to the original video clip for applying effect and further editing. However, there is no option in the timeline which enables to change the default background color for the video clip. In order to make the background color to be white, you need to apply the following steps: 1. Open the Clip timeline 2. Select the video clip and go to edit 3. In the Preference bar, in the “Preferences” tab under “Effect” section, select “Background color” as “White” 4. Click on OK and save the video clip. 5. Close the timeline When you select “White” as the background color, the preview of the video clip will be shown with the white background, otherwise the background of the clip is black. Adobe Premiere Elements 2018 gives a feature of instant video rendering which allows to instantly preview the preview of the edits made to the video timeline.
