I'm trying to search for teacher_id's which do not have no students assigned to them, using three tables: teachers, classes and students. I came up with this query, but I'm not sure how I can add the other rows in, it needs to be relatively clean, if possible: SELECT * FROM teachers LEFT JOIN classes ON teachers.teacher_id = classes.teacher_id WHERE classes.teacher_id IS NULL A: It sounds like you just want a list of all the teacher_id values, and for each of them, a list of the classes where they are not associated. This should get you close: SELECT t.teacher_id, class.class_id FROM teachers t LEFT JOIN classes c ON c.teacher_id = t.teacher_id WHERE c.teacher_id IS NULL You can then use the returned values to generate a list of names, and also a list of the classes. " more a string format than a set format in the standard. How long, for example, does it take to ensure that each character is in a separate line, or is it enough if it appears on the line end? What about other standards? CSS 2 specification says The number specifies the maximum number of characters per line, as determined by text wrapping. If the value is negative, the text is truncated to zero and HTML 4 says The element represents content in monospaced typeface and should not be ba244e880a
