Spreader is a handy and easy-to-use application designed to assist you in doing debate speed drills. Spreader allows users to customize the words per minute rate and quickly modify the speed. Additionally, you can set it to read a text backwards. The portable version is available here. What is new in this release: Improved speed control. New functionality added to Word Expert. Added missing sample question images. Bugs fixed. Spreader - Speed control Improved speed control. You can now set the words per minute rate to the maximum speed level, adjust it to a preferred level, or remove it completely (if you don't want to use it anymore). The words per minute rate is a measure of how many words per minute a user writes. A certain words per minute rate is considered normal and comfortable level. Word Expert now uses the words per minute rate (or the configured one) as an additional way to control the speed and the words per minute rate of the reading. You can control the speed through the right-click menu of the 'addition' button. If the words per minute rate is not set to the preferred level, the words per minute rate of the reading will be adjusted to the minimum level. Adding new sample question images. Added missing sample question images. Now you can add new sample images from your hard drive to the tutorial images. Now you can use the New Sample Question button on the right side of the tutorial image list to add new images. If you still need a help with adding images, please send us an email. Bugs fixed. If you find a bug in Spreader or Word Expert, please send us a mail at support@wordexpert.com We're glad you have decided to leave a comment!
